U. S. Looking Into Vote Fund Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission said today it has dispatched investigators to Little Rock, Ark., to check out a complaint that employees of the Arkansas Employment Security Division have been solicited for campaign contributions.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, a candidate for governor, filed the complaint, reporting federal employees were being asked to contribute to the campaign of Gov. Orval E. Faubus for a fourth term.

At the time Bennett filed the complaint a few weeks ago, the commission said it would check to determine if there had been violations of the Hatch Act.

The Hatch Act restricts political activities of Civil Service employees who are paid in part with federal funds.

The commission said there was no indication how soon the investigators sent to Little Rock will submit their report.

Both Faubus and James L. Bland, the Arkansas ESD administrator, have denied Bennett's charges that employees were pressured to contribute to the Faubus campaign fund.

Collision Fatal Near Hampton

THORNTON, Ark. (AP) — Jack Tomlinson, about 45, of Hampton, was killed in a collision of his truck and a Cotton Belt freight train at a crossing here today.

Police said the truck was dragged about 60 feet.

Tomlinson was alone in the truck. Survivors include the widow.

Storm Damage Survey Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — An immediate survey of recent tornado damage in Arkansas' 6th Congressional District has been ordered by Civil Defense administrator Leo A. Hoegh.

Hoegh told Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) yesterday that when the survey is complete, he will report to the president and ask for assistance for the area.

If funds are ordered by the president, the agency can make them available to help rebuild the school at Menifee, Ark., leveled in the tornado. Funds would also be available to help repair other public facilities, Alford said.

Kline Swears Visit Didn't Influence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur S. Kline, vice chairman of the Federal Power Commission, swore today that an off-the-record visit by lawyer Thomas G. Corcoran had no influence on his vote in a 32-million-dollar pipeline case.

Kline acknowledged to House investigators that he had insisted on fixing a definite rate of return on Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. earnings in importing natural gas from Canada.

But he insisted that he didn't change his vote at any time as a result of the private visit by Corcoran, attorney for Midwestern's parent firm, Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

The commission subsequently voted unanimously to leave the return rate open.

Kline's testimony generally paralleled the position taken by FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall in three days of testimony before the Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

The subcommittee is seeking to determine whether any improper influence has been exerted against the commission.

Corcoran, onetime intimate adviser to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, privately contacted Kuykendall, Kline and Commissioner William R. Connolly last October just before the FPC granted Midwestern permission to import gas from Canada.

Corcoran's visits were made shortly after the FPC staff had recommended that Midwestern be limited to a 6 1/2 per cent profit in contrast to the 7 per cent the firm had insisted was needed.

Hymn Singing Negroes Jailed in Chattanooga

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first mass arrests in Chattanooga, Tenn., since the near riots in February sent 50 hymn-singing young Negroes off to jail, two of them dripping wet from a hosing.

They were arrested Thursday during a demonstration in the downtown Kress store. Manager Robert V. Thacker said when they refused to leave the white lunch counter he threatened to turn a water hose on them.

All but two left, he said, and "we hosed them (the two) down real good." The others then returned and police arrested them on charges of disorderly conduct and loitering. Thirty-two juveniles were sent to a detention home. The others, jailed under $100 bond each, face a preliminary hearing in City Court.

At Nashville, Tenn., however, Negroes were served without incident at lunch counters for the third day in a row.

But Conservation Commissioner Brents McBride, whose department administers hotel and restaurant regulations, asked Atty. Gen. George McCantless if the integration of six Nashville lunch counters violated state regulations requiring segregated eating facilities. The attorney general's office declined comment pending study of the law.

The executive secretary of the South Carolina NAACP told the Negro Baptist Educational and Missionary Convention of South Carolina at Greenville that there have been 41 Negro student demonstrations for civil rights in the state and more are to come.

The NAACP official, the Rev. J. Dequincy Newman of Columbia, said demonstrations the past three months involved 4,037 students. A total of 586 have been arrested, he said, and of the number, 492 already have been convicted and have appealed.

In Atlanta Negroes abandoned plans to appeal a federal court ruling delaying desegregation in the city's public schools for a year. An attorney said the decision followed a judge's assurance implementation of the order was not contingent on legislative approval.

Federal Judge Frank A. Hooper has ordered the Atlanta Board of Education's grade-a-year pupil placement plan to go into effect May 1, 1961.

Plane Incident Brings Protest From Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway protested to the United States today against pilot Francis G. Powers' purported plan to land his spy plane in Norway, then exchanged sharp notes with the Soviet Union.

Informed sources said Foreign Minister Halvard Lange based his protest to the United States on an admission by U.S. authorities that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was correct in saying that Powers' U2 was bound for Oslo, Norway.

Lange told Parliament only that there was reason to believe the plane was bound for Oslo and that Norway had to protest because no prior permission to land had been asked.

"But I must, from this platform, protest against the threats against Norway that in this connection have been voiced by responsible political persons in the Soviet Union," he said.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the text of Lange's statement was turned over to Soviet Ambassador M. G. Gribanov.

Later Gribanov handed the Foreign Office a Soviet note described as sharply worded. Its contents were not made known immediately.

One Dead in Shooting at Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A produce dealer whose wife said she wanted to divorce him was shot to death and a bachelor friend of the couple was wounded in a motel room here last night.

The wife was nearby but said she didn't see the shooting.

Sheriff Hollis Spencer said he believed that Herman Calico, 40, of Springdale, shot Leonard L. Chapman, 31, of Tahlequah, Okla., an insurance salesman, and then killed himself.

Spencer said he wouldn't know for sure until after an autopsy.

Spencer said Mrs. Calico told him she had spent several hours at Chapman's motel room yesterday, part of the time when her husband was not present.

Calico, shot in the head, died within about an hour.

Chapman was in a serious condition today at a Fayetteville hospital.

He was shot in the chest and underwent extensive surgery last night.

Spencer quoted Mrs. Calico, mother of two children, as saying that the three had been drinking and that Chapman became ill and was lying on a bed.

She went to the bathroom to get a wet towel for his head and when she returned Calico was holding a pistol.

She tried to wrest the weapon from her husband and it discharged, the bullet knocking out a light.

Mrs. Calico said she ran from the room shouting for help.

Chapman couldn't be questioned because of his condition.

Spencer said Mrs. Calico told him she went to Chapman's room yesterday and that late in the day her husband joined her.

All three went to the Calico home at Springdale, about 12 miles away, but later returned to the motel.

The shooting took place shortly after they arrived at the motel.

Spencer said Mrs. Calico told him she had asked Calico to permit her to get a divorce. He did not say if she planned a remarriage.

2 Convicted in Hamm Case Electrocuted

TUCKER, PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Two Negro men paid with their lives in Arkansas' electric chair today for their part in the slaying of an aged white man.

James Matthew Moore, 22, died first. He was followed to the chair by Rogers Boone, 27.

Both went to their deaths calmly.

Moore and Boone were sentenced to electrocution for participating in the killing of M. R. Hamm, 76, near Texarkana, on May 9, 1956. Hamm was slain in a robbery that netted $10.

Two other Negroes—James A. Boyd, 21, and William Henry Byrd, 22—were convicted in the same crime. They are scheduled to die in the Arkansas chair next Friday.

Attorneys for the Negroes waged a long fight against the death sentences. Appeals were carried to the U.S. Supreme Court.

All of the four Miller County Negroes had been granted one or more reprieves.

Capt. Jim Bruton, assistant prison superintendent, said Moore and Boone prayed with ministers last night. The doomed men had last meals of steak and pork chops.

Three Protestant ministers and the prison chaplain accompanied Moore to the death chamber.

He was strapped in the chair at 5:55 a.m. and pronounced dead three minutes later.

Boone, a Catholic, was accompanied on his last walk by Mr. Joseph Gallagher of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Pine Bluff.

At 6:02, Boone was strapped into the chair. He was pronounced dead at 6:05.

Moore and Boone had hoped for another stay, but Boone told Bruton yesterday they were "expecting to go."

School Bill to Be Aired Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education Committee plans to bring its controversial school construction bill to the House floor for action Wednesday.

The committee voted 17-7 yesterday to bypass the Rules Committee, where the measure has been bogged down, and bring it up through the seldom-used "calendar Wednesday" process.

This process takes advantage of a weekly hour in which a committee chairman can call up without Rules clearance a bill his own group has approved. Legislative action must be completed that same day, or the measure is dead for the session.

Under the school aid bill, 325 million dollars a year for three years would be made available to the states for school construction. States would have to match the federal funds after the first year.

The Senate earlier had passed a bill calling for $1,000,000,000 in outright grants over a two-year period. The states could use the money for teachers' salaries as well as construction.

Costly Hotel Is Ordered Closed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The 178-room Lucerne Hotel, which cost four million dollars when it was built in 1956, has been ordered to close next Sunday because it's losing money.

U.S. Dist. Judge Emmett Chouteau ordered the hotel closed Wednesday after a court trustee reported the hotel had only 60 rooms occupied and was losing $300 to $400 a day.

Others among Miami Beach's 77 hotels reportedly are facing financial difficulties. Already undergoing corporate reorganization under federal court direction are the Delmonico, Cadillac, Sorrento and Saxony. Foreclosure suits have been filed in circuit court against the Plymouth and Lom bardy.

Some operators say their difficulties began in 1958 when a cold, wet winter kept tourists away and plunged many hotels into financial troubles from which they still have not recovered.

West Fork Water Loan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two loans totaling $120,000 for construction of water facilities in West Fork, Ark., have been approved by the Community Facilities Administration.

One is a loan of $60,000 to West Fork for use in building a waterworks distribution system and a river intake structure. The second, of the same amount, is to waterworks district No. 1 of West Fork with which to build a waterworks treatment plant and storage facilities.

Russia Will Ask U. S. to Stop Spying

By LEWIS GULIC
WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev was considered likely today to demand at the summit conference that the United States promise to stop its spy flights over the Soviet Union.

The prospect heightened chances of a clash between President Eisenhower and the Soviet Premier over the case of the downed American U2 plane when the East-West leaders meet in Paris next week.

Eisenhower sees the U. S. flights behind the iron curtain as needed for defense against possible surprise attack. He has served notice that he will reoffer at the summit his open skies plan for reciprocal aerial inspection.

Thursday night the United States officially charged that Moscow's treatment of the spy case casts doubt on whether Khrushchev really intends progress at the summit toward easing East-West tensions.

The U. S. allegation was contained in a 250-word note replying to the Kremlin's May 10 protest about the May Day flight deep into Soviet territory by American pilot Francis G. Powers.

The Soviets, who captured Powers and claim to have shot down the plane, accused, the United States of hostile acts and threatened reprisals in case of future flights.

The U. S. reply, delivered in Moscow by the U. S. Embassy, denied "any aggressive intent" and said America's intelligence gathering is "for purely defensive purposes."

It denied the Soviet accusation that the May 1 flight was undertaken deliberately to wreck the long-awaited summit parley.

"Indeed," the U. S. note said, "it is the Soviet government's treatment of this case which, if anything, may raise questions about its intentions in respect to these matters."

The U. S. note concluded: "For its part, the United States government will participate in the Paris meeting on May 16 prepared to cooperate to the fullest extent in seeking agreements designed to reduce tensions, including effective safeguards against surprise attack which would make unnecessary issues of this kind."

Industrial Man of Year Named

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bank president Charles Frierson of Jonesboro, Ark., was named "Industrial Man of the Year" yesterday at the Commercial Appeal's Industrial Awards Contest.

Twenty Mid South communities also drew awards for industrial activities. The top winners in their population classes were Tupelo, Miss., Corinth, Miss., Lexington, Tenn., and Corning, Ark.

Also receiving recognition were Helena-West Helena, Ark., Jonesboro and Pine Bluff in the 15,001 to 60,000 class; Forrest City in the 7,501 to 15,000 class and Morrilton in the 2,501 to 7,500 class.

Travelers Pick Up Three Players

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock's Travelers picked up three players yesterday.

The Travrs got veteran Birmingham third baseman Rance Pless when the Barons released him.

Little Rock also signed Jay Cooke, a slugging young first baseman, and returned catcher Don Williams, who has been out with an injury, to the active list.

Pless, 34, has been one of the Southern's top batsmen for several years. Cooke hit .290 last year at Birmingham but the Travrs bought him from the Detroit Tiger system. He had been playing with Victoria of the Class AA Texas League this season.

Honorary Means Just That Only

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Appointment as an honorary state policeman does not authorize a person to exercise the authority of a regular trooper, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett ruled yesterday.
The opinion went to Union County Sheriff O. E. Bishop, who asked if a person with an honorary state police card could make arrests, carry firearm or be exempt from arrest.
Bennett said he found no law authorizing honorary State Police ranks.
Bishop, who is sheriff in Bennett's home county, gave no reason for requesting the opinion.
Carl Miller, assistant State Police director, said honorary appointments had been made as good will gestures.
"Of course the card is always issued with the understanding that the bearer cannot exercise the authority," Miller said.
Ben J. Harrison, chief assistant attorney general, wrote the opinion.

CONFLICTS OF RELIGION
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
The word "religion" comes from a Latin word, meaning "to bind."
It is the great tragedy of religion and of history that what ought to have been a great binding force, drawing men together, has been to an incredible extent a dividing and separating force, productive of prejudices and jealousies, bitter and uncompromising controversies, feuds and wars.
Every form of distrust, hatred, and violence has been associated with religion, and the wars of religion have been among the longest and bloodiest.

This fact of history has led some men to deplore religion and to mark it as a curse, rather than a blessing, to mankind.
In itself, that is a shallow and unwarrantable conclusion. It ignores the fact that the tragic and disastrous situations have been due not to religion, but to the way in which religion has been perverted by the worst that is in man.

It is human depravity and error, not religion, that is responsible for the evils that adversaries of religion itself.
Moreover, the antireligious attitude ignores the extent to which in almost all religions, and especially in the Judeo-Christian religion, religion has produced the finest character, the truest zeal for human welfare, and the profoundest devotion to truth and righteousness.

The positive greatness of religion as a dividing, rather than a uniting, force still persists.
We have not had the open wars of religion of former centuries. Where violence has occurred it has been by adherents of so-called "pagan" religions, not between churches, denominations, sects, and groups in the Judeo-Christian area.

But the lack of extreme violence should not blind us to the bitterness of the conflicts within the Jewish and Christian areas.
The anti-Jewish prejudice and action of certain professed Christians is a present-day fact all too evident in bombs and a resurgence of swastikas.
The sharpness of the sectarian spirit and incident controversies is appalling when contrasted with the spirit of Christian love.

The divisions within Christendom, and even within religion in general, are not in themselves to be condemned or deplored.
It is the spirit in which the divisions have been maintained, the uses of dogma, creed, and authority to promote and maintain divisiveness, rather than brotherly love, that is to be deplored and condemned.

The freedom within Protestantism that has made Christian denominations and sects possible is, as I see it, a glory of Protestantism.
What is inglorious is the extent to which Protestantism has been untrue to itself and the deplorable uses to which freedom has been put.
The spirit of sectarianism is not the spirit of either love or freedom.

Reds to Help Control U. S. Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. underground nuclear tests to try out detection systems will be controlled by a joint group including Soviet representatives, President Eisenhower said today.
The president was told at his news conference that last Saturday's announcement of the forty coming tests caused some confusion over the extent of Russian participation.
Eisenhower said the underground tests will be supervised by a body representing Britain, Russia and the United States and that no weapons whatever will be involved.

In fact, Eisenhower said, many of the tests won't even involve nuclear materials.
The purpose of the test series is to determine whether effective detection devices can be perfected which will enable all nuclear powers to abandon weapons tests with the assurance that others cannot continue them in secret.

Asked if the Russians will be shown every detail of American nuclear devices used in the tests, he said:

What a world this might be if religion became a real binding force, and religious people everywhere were baptized with a spirit of brotherly love.

Eisenhower said he believes they will and that they ought to see everything necessary for U.S. participation in the venture.
Eisenhower's statement went considerably beyond reports from Geneva where representatives of the nuclear powers are working on plans for a weapons testing ban.
Dispatches from Geneva indicated only that plans will be shown to Soviet scientists and that some details will be open to negotiation.

Eartha Kitt to Be Bride in June

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"I'm terribly happy, now I'll have something I never had—a family of my own," beamed Eartha Kitt soon-to-be June bride.

The Negro entertainer and handsome, sandy-haired Bill McDonald picked up a marriage license Wednesday on a flying trip to Los Angeles. Both are 30 years old.

"We plan to be married June 9 in a quiet ceremony at my parents' home," said McDonald, son of a wealthy Los Angeles business executive.

"But the honeymoon will have to wait," said Eartha, a Southern sharecropper's daughter. "I've a concert tour in this country and European engagements that will last through Christmas."

Eartha and Bill present varied backgrounds.

She was born on a dilapidated farm outside of Columbia, S.C. picked up a Purple Heart and a Bronze Star. He was wounded by a burp gun and spent a year in an Army hospital.

Eartha and Bill say that between her engagements they'll settle down in Beverly Hills and raise a family.

Mrs. Thomas Edward Roberts

The marriage of Miss Charlean Trimble Elter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Elter of Washington, to Lieutenant Thomas E. Roberts, son of Mrs. Adria P. Roberts of North Little Rock, was solemnized at four o'clock on Saturday, May 7 in the Washington Presbyterian Church.

Rev. William Bradley Trimble, rector of St. Matthias Episcopal Church of Shreveport and uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Betsy Lou Garner of Rison, soloist, was accompanied by Miss Kathleen Johnson, the bride's aunt, who played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and the traditional processional and recessional from Loegrin and Mendelssohn.

The place of ceremony was marked on either side by candelabra containing tall white tapers and floor baskets of white gladioli and Calla lilies interspersed with white mums and salal. The church bell rang while the candies were being lighted by W. H. Elter V, brother of the bride and Joe L. Booker and again during the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in an exquisite bridal white imported silk organza and chantilly lace. The gown was designed with a long stem bodice of the lace, scoop portrait neckline embroidered with dainty seed pearls, and sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The beautiful, voluminous silk organza skirt was enhanced with beaded lace medallions and swept to a formal chapel train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Moon Glow roses backed with a Hostomum leaf. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a sapphire drop pendant, gift of the groom.

Miss Sarah June Elter of Dallas was her sister's maid of honor and her other sister, Miss Margaret Ann Elter, was a junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Downs of Little Rock, Okla. where the groom will be stationed at Ft. Sill.

After a short wedding trip the bride will resume her studies at Henderson State Teachers College in Arkadelphia. After June 1 couple will be at home in Layton, Okla. where the groom will be stationed at Ft. Sill.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of navy and white flecked silk linen, harmonizing hat, and patent accessories, and a corsage of white roses from her bouquet.

Aly Khan, a Rich Playboy, Dies in Wreck

BY HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—Prince Aly Khan—playboy, sportsman, lover of beautiful women and apprentice diplomat—was killed Thursday night at the wheel of a sports car.

After an afternoon at Longchamps race track outside Paris, the 48-year-old prince was driving to his half-brother's home at St. Cloud for a dinner party when his Lancia coupe and a light sedan collided head on in suburban Suresne.

The wealthy prince met death in a dinner jacket with a beautiful woman by his side.

Bettina, former French model who has been his constant companion in Europe in recent years, suffered a face cut and blood poured over her green silk evening gown. She was given first aid treatment at a hospital and released.

Aly's chauffeur, riding in the back seat, was only slightly hurt. The fun-loving prince, who turned to sober diplomacy in 1958 as Pakistan's ambassador to the United Nations, was rushed to a hospital but died in an elevator on the way to the operating room.

The hospital director said a head gash was the only outward sign of injury. Hospital attaches said he suffered a fractured skull, broken legs and perhaps a broken neck.

Herve Bichaton, driver of the other car, escaped with minor injuries. Police said he told them he could remember nothing about the crash. The French News Agency said reports from the scene indicated Bichaton was on the wrong side of the road, but police gave no confirmation of this.

Bettina, whose real name is Simone Bodin, told investigators Aly—a racing driver in his youth—was not driving fast at the time of the accident.

Atress Rita Hayworth, whose marriage to Aly was a glittering Riviera affair in 1949, said in Hollywood that she and their 10-year-old daughter Yasmín were tremendously shocked.

Miss Hayworth and Aly were divorced in 1954.

Aly is survived by two sons—Karim and Amyn—by his first marriage to Joan Yarde-Buller Guinness, daughter of an English nobleman. That marriage also ended in divorce.

Karim, 23, is the reigning Aga Khan IV, spiritual leader of the Ismaili sect of Moslems with 20 million followers. He succeeded to the title in 1957 on the death of Aly's father, the Aga Khan III, who passed over his son and named his grandson as his successor.

Prince Amyn, 22, is a student at Harvard.

109th Birthday

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Levi B. Groly celebrated his 109th birthday Tuesday but gave up the idea of dancing at the party friends threw for him.

He had spaded in his garden and done some other chores earlier, he said, and didn't feel up to dancing.

Not long ago I printed a letter from a woman who loved a married man and wondered why his wife wouldn't give him up. Here is the wife's reply:

Dear Dorothy Dix:—Lonesome wonders why I won't give up my husband. Well, I happen to love him. My heart is broken but I'll love him till I die. If she thinks she'll get what I worked 25 years for, she'll be fooled. I've fixed that. If she thinks I'm going to stand by and let her ruin our love, she has another thing coming. I'm fighting mad—Mrs. A.W.

Dear Mrs. A.W.: Shakespeare wrote in one of his sonnets, "Ritued love, when it is built anew, grows fairer than at first. More strong, far greater."

So take heart. But don't forget Jesus' words "Forgive seventy times seven."

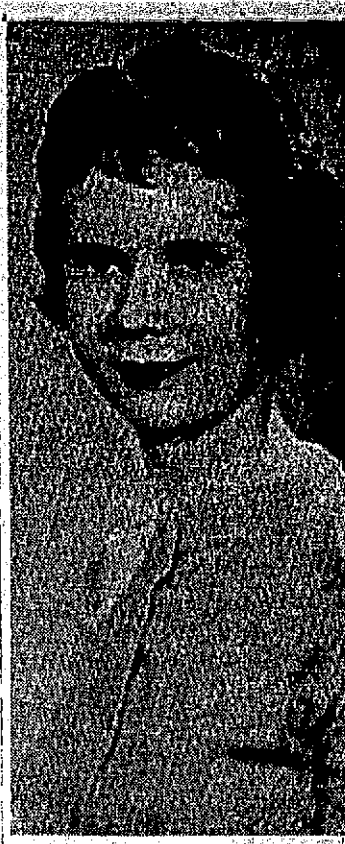

Dear Dorothy Dix:—I'm married to a wonderful man. He is generous, easy to get along with, never complains, not jealous, and believes a woman should be independent. But — he is just not interested in the physical side of marriage. I have a lovely home and a nice life. Should I give it up and look for a real mate? — Love Hungry

Dear Love Hungry: Sex and love belong together. St. Paul wrote (Ephesians 5:25), "Husbands love your wives, as Christ loved the church and gave Himself up for her. Husbands should love their wives as their own bodies . . . and the two shall become as one."

If your husband remains indifferent to sex, for his good as well as yours, seek the advice of a physician.

Do you think it's proper for me to ask a boy I like very much to my confirmation? When I was younger I went with him, then, for a New Year's resolution gave up boys. I'm keeping it until I'm confirmed. This boy wants to go with me after I'm confirmed. What do you think? I'm going to be confirmed in May.—L

Dear L: It is not only proper but very fine to invite your best beau to your Confirmation. It will make a wonderful memory for you both — something you'll gl-

Says Closing Schools Was 'A Sad Day'

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Joe C. Hardin told news conference today that when the Little Rock public high schools were closed it was "the saddest day this state has ever known."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, whom Hardin is opposing for a fourth term, kept the schools shut in 1958-59 against possible integration.

Hardin said "I'm for public schools—open for the people who need education—the most."

Asked what he would do if a school district were faced with an order to desegregate the candidate for governor said:

"That would be a matter for the federal authorities." The state is not burdened with the responsibility of enforcing federal court orders.

Hardin declared "I would not call out state troops to quell an insurrection I had instigated because I didn't intend to cause any riots."

"You can use some new terminology: I'm for law and order and against violence in any form," Hardin said.

The candidate said in another connection that he thought the Negro should not "be segregated from his rights—that he should be permitted to vote and should get a fair shake at the commissary."

Hardin said in talking about population loss that the state must create "a political climate favorable to business."

He said the state must end "the hatred and fear and demagoguery of the immediate past."

People are leaving Arkansas for three reasons he said:

1. Lack of job opportunities.

2. The fear that the "complete political instability and threat of dictatorship" might affect job

Red Sox Win 4th in Row, Go Into Second

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston's Red Sox, playing their best at home, as usual, suddenly have won four in a row and six of their last seven, barging into second place, only a half-game shy of the American League lead.

And it's all happened just 2½ weeks after that talk about club expansion and a quick gate for Manager Billy Jurges.

They made it with their second straight victory over Chicago's first place White Sox Thursday, a 1-0 decision on Tom Brewer's two-hit pitching and a ninth-inning single by Pete Runnels, who took over the AL batting lead at .426. Bob Shaw was the loser, giving up nine hits.

Boston leap-frogged the New York Yankees, who skidded from second to fourth with a 3-2 11-inning defeat by Cleveland. The Indians, taking third place and also within a half-game of the lead, put it away on Russ Nixon's home run as right-hander Gary Bell out-duelled Ralph Terry for his first victory over the Yankees in six career decisions.

The second division clubs—Baltimore, Detroit, Washington and Kansas City—were rained out. In the National League, Jack Sanford hurled the second straight two-hitter by San Francisco's staff and the first place Giants defeated Philadelphia 1-0 for the second time in two days. The Giants, winning six straight, now lead Pittsburgh's second place Pirates, who were idle, by two games. Third place Milwaukee ended St. Louis's sixth consecutive defeat, 4-3 on Ed Matthews' tie-breaking home run. And Cincinnati made it eight straight with a 14-1 job on the Chicago Cubs.

Porkers Set for Spring Squad Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks went through their last workout of the spring training season yesterday, then packed their gear for a trip to Little Rock and a Red-White intra-squad game that will wind things up.

The game is scheduled tomorrow night in War Memorial Stadium.

Several thousand fans are expected to watch as the Reds and Whites—minus the team's top 10 lettermen—fight it out for varsity berths.

The lettermen were excused from spring practice by coach Frank Broyles.

The Hogs worked on offensive plays and assignments yesterday. Offensive blocking was the weak spot in last week's Red-White game at Fayetteville, which the White won 12-0 on two touchdown passes by quarterback George McKinney.

American Wins Title in Rome

ROME (AP)—Barry MacKay, lowering Dayton, Ohio, tennis player, smashed his way to the title of the Rome International meet Wednesday with a 7-5, 7-5, 6-6, 6-1 win over Luis Ayala of Chile. It was the first time the "Rome" title had been won by a U.S. player since Budgie Patty of Los Angeles did it in 1954.

Old Hands Are Hurling Best for the Giants

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pity those poor San Francisco Giants. They had hitters and slugers so they traded for more pitching. And what happens? Now the hitters don't hit and the slugers get hurt, but they've got a two-game lead, a six-game streak and the best pitching in the National League—thanks to three guys they had all the time.

Right-hander Jack Sanford came up with the third two-hitter of the season by the staff, second in two days, for another 1-0 victory over Philadelphia Thursday. That gave the Giants, led to six hits by loser Robin Roberts and reliever Dick Farrell, their longest winning string since moving to San Francisco in 1950 and padded their lead over idle Pittsburgh.

Third place Milwaukee dropped St. Louis to a sixth straight defeat, winning 4-3 on Ed Matthews' tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning. Cincinnati stretched its winning streak to eight with a 14-1 romp against Chicago's Cubs.

In the American League, Boston took second place and moved within a half-game of Chicago by defeating the White Sox 1-0 on Tom Brewer's two-hitter. Cleveland, also just a half-game from the top, moved into third with a 3-2, 11-inning victory at New York that dropped the Yankees to fourth. The other clubs—Baltimore, Detroit, Washington and Kansas City—were rained out.

The Giants didn't get a man on base until Willie Kirkland singled with two out in the fifth. Kirkland stole second, continued to third on rookie catcher Clay Dalrymple's bum throw and scored on Hobie Landrih's single.

Mathews' sixth home run, third in two games, broke a 3-3 tie for the Braves and beat reliever Larry Jackson (1-5). The Cards, now 0-10 on the road, got their first two runs on a pair of doubles by Bill White and tied it in the eighth on pinch-hitter Curt Flood's sacrifice fly after starter Bob Buhl had walked the bases loaded. Bob Rush (1-0) won it in relief for the Braves.

The Reds scored seven runs in the first and six in the second with 11 of their 17 hits. Six runs were unearned. Bob Anderson (0-1) lost it. Right-hander Bob Purkey (2-1) was the winner. The Cubs, playing their first game in a week after six consecutive postponements, scored their run, unearned, in the fourth inning.

HOPE STAR, HOPE, ARKANSAS

COLLEGE TRY—Don Zimmer almost turns in the play of the day against his former teammates, the Los Angeles Dodgers, at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The Cubs' third baseman moves far to his left for a slow grounder hit by Tommy Davis. Zimmer, who was never charged with not trying, gets to the ball all right, picks it up cleanly and gets off the throw to the plate. The trouble is that the throw is wide, permitting Wally Moon, who continues to hit well, to score from second base. Zimmer gets E for effort and an error.

Says Plane Deal to Help Ike

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said today the American spy plane incident in the Soviet Union would serve to strengthen President Eisenhower's hand at the summit meeting.

The Kentucky senator said in a prepared speech that prior to the plane's intelligence mission that "Khrushchev may have felt that he held more cards in a mistaken assumption that we were not totally informed on military developments in the Soviet union."

"Now, however," Morton added, "he knows that—among other intelligence programs—planes of the U2 type have been monitoring him for at least four years. Armed with clear knowledge of the Communist capabilities, and knowing that Khrushchev now understands we have such knowledge, President Eisenhower can get down to the meat and potatoes of world issues at the summit."

No Knowledge

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—If the Soviet Union has sent aerial spies over the continental United States or Alaska, the North American Air Defense Command says it has no knowledge or report of it.

A NORAD spokesman made the comment Tuesday in response to calls prompted by the downing of what Soviet leaders say was an American-built jet on an intelligence flight.

L. A. Dodgers Have a Golden Gate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—San Francisco is not the only California city with a Golden Gate. The Los Angeles Dodgers have got one in operation at the Coliseum.

Artistically, the Dodgers have been going over like a club-footed corps de ballet so far this season, losing 14 of their first 25 games.

Now, if they could make as many runs on the field as they've made to the bank, they'd be so far in front you'd have to measure their lead in light years.

In their first 18 games at home, they've drawn $51,138, for an average of more than $3,000 a game. If they kept this up through their 75 home appearances, they'd finish with a gate of a little less than 2,500,000—which would be a National League record.

Last year the Dodgers drew 2,071,045 at home. But right now they are more than 60,000 ahead of their 1959 pace.

Census Story Reversed, Faubus Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) pointed his efforts at next week's Maryland primary today as political leaders assessed the effects of his victories in West Virginia and Nebraska.

Kennedy confidently told a news conference Wednesday his overwhelming defeat of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in West Virginia assures him the Democratic nomination for president at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

Others who will have a major say in selection of the nominee didn't go so far, but some of them conceded the West Virginia showing will have a strong effect.

For example: "The results are meaningful in our own state of New York," that came in a joint statement Wednesday from Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast and Carmine G. DeSapio, national committee member and leader of Tammany Hall.

They added the result "will be a highly significant and serious factor" in the deliberations of the state's delegation, which will be chosen in a primary June 7. They didn't commit themselves further. New York carries 114 convention votes.

On the other hand, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania maintained their previous positions of neutrality in the Democratic presidential race, though hailing Kennedy's West Virginia triumph. They'll control delegations with 81 votes each at the July convention.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio (64 votes) said "Kennedy is on his way." He added, "His victory is more significant than the vote indicates." Ohio's first-ballot votes were already in line for Kennedy, but his friends now believe they'll stay in line past the first ballot if need be.

The latest Associated Press tabulation shows Kennedy in the lead with 24 1/2 convention votes, about one-third of the 761 he needs for nomination.

He gained no automatic votes in either West Virginia or Nebraska, where primaries do not bind the delegates, but he is virtually assured Maryland's 24 votes after the May 17 primary there. He faces token opposition from Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

Earlier, Faubus had said that Sen. John Kennedy's primary victory in West Virginia indicated to him that Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas are the main contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He said two-time candidate Adlai Stevenson and Missouri's Sen. Stuart Symington are in the background as compromise candidates.

Faubus' two Fayetteville appearances tonight are in connection with a Young Democrats campaign to get voters out. Sandy McMath of Little Rock, son of former Gov. Sid McMath, said the Hardin rally was scheduled so Democrats could attend both the rally and the Faubus speech. Sid McMath is a political foe of Faubus.

Kennedy to Primary in Maryland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) pointed his efforts at next week's Maryland primary today as political leaders assessed the effects of his victories in West Virginia and Nebraska.

Kennedy confidently told a news conference Wednesday his overwhelming defeat of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in West Virginia assures him the Democratic nomination for president at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

Others who will have a major say in selection of the nominee didn't go so far, but some of them conceded the West Virginia showing will have a strong effect.

For example: "The results are meaningful in our own state of New York," that came in a joint statement Wednesday from Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast and Carmine G. DeSapio, national committee member and leader of Tammany Hall.

They added the result "will be a highly significant and serious factor" in the deliberations of the state's delegation, which will be chosen in a primary June 7. They didn't commit themselves further. New York carries 114 convention votes.

On the other hand, Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania maintained their previous positions of neutrality in the Democratic presidential race, though hailing Kennedy's West Virginia triumph. They'll control delegations with 81 votes each at the July convention.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio (64 votes) said "Kennedy is on his way." He added, "His victory is more significant than the vote indicates." Ohio's first-ballot votes were already in line for Kennedy, but his friends now believe they'll stay in line past the first ballot if need be.

Second Photo May Be Real

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The designer of the U2 high altitude spy plane says the Soviets switched wreckage in releasing a second picture purporting to show a downed American plane.

"This looks more like it," said C. L. Johnson of Lockheed Aircraft when shown a reproduction of the Soviet picture showing wreckage on display.

"This definitely is not the same wreckage shown in the first picture released by the Russians," he said. "That was of a heavy airplane, this is a lightweight one, like the U2."

Johnson has called the first picture made public by the Soviets a fake. He planned to examine the newest photograph closely.

Says Fullmer Might Oust His Brother

By GERALD B. TRAPP

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — Manager Mary Jensen says 21-year-old Don Fullmer is going to hasten the retirement of NBA middleweight king Gene Fullmer, Don's older brother.

Gene smilingly agreed after watching Don score a unanimous 10-round decision Wednesday night over Stefan Redl of Passaic, N. J.

"He won't have to fight for it. I'll give it to him when he's ready," Gene said. The Fullmers are natives of this mining town.

Don is the youngest of the fighting Fullmer clan, which also includes lightweight Jay. His weight and the heat in the tiny (700-seat) West Jordan Athletic Club gym were factors in his victory against Redl. Fullmer outweighted Redl 155-140 for the televised bout.

Jensen, who handles the Fullmer brothers, says he wants Don to get more experience. But he said he expects Don to be a title contender in a few years.

The bout was slow except for the eighth and 10th rounds when Fullmer scored with a series of right and left hooks. Redl's best round was the sixth when he shook Fullmer with two hard needs.

This steady growth of debt, at all levels of the economy, alarms some folks. To others it's a sign of vitality and confidence. Call it debt or credit, but a large part of the economy is based upon it. And without it there's doubt that the marvels of mass production could have been achieved.

So all three—saving, spending and borrowing—have their place. And there's something good to be said for all—but only, in each instance, if not carried to excess.

Yet still another thing about these can be confusing. For all three may rise at the same time, as contradictory to each other as they may seem at first glance.

Chapter XXXIV

It was Gwen who turned the trick, arriving for Easter week-end in a new silver-topped cane in her hand, and a new permanent riding the thick white hair.

To her astonishment, Debbie found she could talk to this old woman.

"I was mad to go to Renwick, I thought it was the Most," Debbie thought. "I thought it was the Most," Debbie said.

"The most, what?"

"Oh, the most of everything. At first I loved it, all the customs and rituals. Then it bored me. I couldn't have been more bored. 'Didn't you make friends?' 'Oh sure, I suppose so, not that I'll ever see them again.' 'So you had a crush on someone?' Aunt Gwen deduced. 'Who is it?'"

"Crush?" repeated Debbie wide-eyed and then laughed. It was a modern term for Gwen; old but to her piece. "What makes you think that?"

"It's obvious."

"Oh, well," said Debbie. "Maybe . . . the physical ed teacher. I thought she was the earth and stars and moon."

"And wasn't she?"

"After a while Debbie said, 'No. You wouldn't understand, Aunt Gwen.'"

Gwen rapped sharply on a stone with her cane. "Try me. I've lived a long time."

"You couldn't possibly," Debbie said. "I didn't. Gosh, Aunt Gwen I never thought of anything—like that. I was just crazy about her because she was older and attractive and casual and half the girls were nuts about her. too . . . it was like falling in love with a movie star, someone you'd never meet."

"What happened?"

Debbie shrugged. The expression of distaste was a shadow over her young face. She said, "Nothing—I mean, well, she sort of scared me, that's all."

Gwen did not press her further. There was no reason to; she might be old but, as she said, she'd lived a long time. She did not know about chance meetings in corridors, or the moments when somehow Debbie and the physical ed teacher just happened to be alone in the gym.

But Gwen could guess.

She said, "Your mother expects you to go to Renwick for this last term, so go back after vacation, make up your grades and finish your year. We don't demand honors but a creditable achievement. Stay out of the woman's way. She'll wise up," said Gwen astotishingly.

"I guess she has," said Debbie. "I couldn't tell mother about it."

"Of course you can tell your mother," said Gwen crossly. "You can tell her anything. But she might lose her temper and write to Renwick—maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea, but not until you're out of there—and anyway she has enough on her plate, what with her job and worrying about that woman, Peter Jackson's wife. Suppose we keep it between ourselves?"

"Well, O.K.," said Debbie. But, gage, I get so darned embarrassed!"

Only came whipping along in a new car, spent the last night of Jim's vacation with him and bore him back to school; watching him with Debbie, Gwen thought. It's all right.

The night before she returned to Long Island she told Rose, "You've done a good job with the children."

"I don't feel I have, Aunt Gwen. It worries me."

"Oh, yes you have. I can see as far through a stone wall as the next person. You've made them feel inside the gate."

There was no reason for Rose to pretend she did not know what her aunt meant. "So you saw that, too?" she asked sadly.

"Everyone who knows you well saw it—except, perhaps, Mark. The children were part of the household, but a little outside of it. Maybe that was unfortunate for them, but Mark was a lucky man. I'm proud of you, Rose. You're more like your mother than you know."

Rose said, "I thought she shut me out."

"That's what I meant."

"I didn't realize about Tim and Debbie."

"Of course not. When Mark was here, they didn't seem shut out, because you two were together and with them. I'm saying this badly. I didn't marry the man I loved. I couldn't. He was married, and in those days men didn't run around getting divorced; they thought of their responsibilities and also—I know it's very old-fashioned now—of their vows."

Rose vaguely recalled something her mother had once said about the man who had the farm next to Gwen's. She said nothing, except, "You've been a tower of strength."

Rose asked, after a while, "Should I take Debbie out of Renwick? Tim says she's unhappy; and apparently you think so, too."

"She's not as unhappy as she believes. No. It will be good discipline for her to go back. Perhaps you've forgotten your third year high and your difficulty with the mathematics teacher—what was her name?"

"Simons; and she was a holy horror."

"Maybe she was. Let Debbie go back whether she likes it or not and haul up her grades. It's not long till June. She'll have all summer to recuperate in the camp atmosphere—and you'll have the summer, after working hours, to get her ready for college . . ."

Chapter XXXV

After the children and Gwen had gone, spring decided to settle down, in bloom and leaf and nesting birds.

Daylight saving arrived, with its promise of long and golden evenings, and on the day the clocks went forward the heavens opened and floods descended. Bea Collins told Rose, "The first day of daylight saving isn't, usually, worth saying."

During May, Pete went up to see Karen. Rose did not know it until that evening, when he called her.

"I've seen Karen," he said.

"How?" I mean, did she send for you?"

"Yes, she wrote, out of the blue, on a postcard. She said, 'Why don't you come up?' as if I hadn't begged to, as if I were almost a stranger."

Rose said, "I'm awfully happy about this, Pete. Steve said she's doing very well."

"She has to do better. She said I could see her maybe once a week."

Saturdays? Rose thought. She said, "Let me know if you settle on a day, so we won't conflict."

"I could take you up—" he began.

"No. . . two people and one to many."

"Rose, I swear she was glad to see me . . . maybe because she supposed—still on her knees, no longer in petition, but grati-ference. They can't tell me how long she'll be there but . . .

"But what?" she asked, as he fell silent.

"Perhaps I have something to look forward to—"

Karen and Pete were on the way to their solution, whether permanently or only temporarily, triggered by absence, a cough and a temperature. Rose didn't know.

Her own problem? Some of it had been solved; no more flat on her belly in the tunnel or slamming her head against a wall; no more sleeping capsules and no more trying to get on her feet.

Yet, even though, she now walked in the tunnel, she was conscious of being—spiritually, she supposed—still on her knees, no longer in petition, but gratiting in the ship's pool. She, like Carstairs, had put on weight.

Harry, who wasn't drinking tea, hurried himself up from a long chair, looking very relaxed and glad to see Rose. He went to talk to someone else and Pam sat down by the pool's edge and said, "Find a pew."

Rose pulled up a chair and Pam asked, "Aren't you going to swim; there's no one in the gals' dressing room now."

"Later, I'm hot and lazy."

"You're working too hard, honey."

"I hate people who tell me I look tired!"

"Forget I said it. How do you think Harry looks?"

"Like a happy man."

"I tell him he's a member of the Four-H club; hale, hearty, healthy and happy," said Pam.

"How about you?"

"I qualify, too. As soon as we returned, I called up AA and reported for work. So I keep the horse saddled. Harry's used to it, even when the phone rings at one or three in the morning. He says in simple disgust, 'Oh, for heaven's sake!' rolls over and goes back to sleep." She looked at Rose and smiled. "I believe he's proud of me, though."

Thinks More Segregation in Big Cities

CHICAGO (AP)—A University of Chicago sociologist said today the American Negro is becoming more, not less, segregated in large cities.

Prof. Philip M. Hauser, chairman of the University's sociology department and former acting director of the U. S. Census, said the Negro is gradually moving outward toward the suburbs, getting better jobs and education.

Other immigrants did this as individuals and became assimilated he said. But the Negro is moving as a group, taking his segregated ghetto with him.

This results, he said, from color prejudice and the fact that Negroes are arriving in metropolitan areas more rapidly and in greater numbers than did other immigrants.

Unlike his immigrant predecessors, the Negro is becoming more, rather than less, segregated in American metropolitan areas," Hauser said.

Hauser told an international conference of mayors that metropolitan centers will face a crisis in human relations in the 1960s.

This will result in part, he said, from the fact that though the Negro is fleeing segregated living, other groups want to live in enclaves and are resisting integration.

Balloon Goes Up 27 Miles

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP)—An experimental weather balloon sent aloft by the Army Signal Corps, has achieved a high time altitude record of 144,000 feet, more than 27 miles.

The Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory here said Wednesday the balloon reached the altitude in a series of launchings during April. It tops the previous night time record by 14,000 feet.

The balloons launched at night usually burst at lower altitudes, the Army said, because cooler temperatures cause the rubber to stiffen.
